STUDENT'S EXPRESSION SERIES

My School Journey: From Admission to Grade 11 – Memories Created and Challenges

Student Name: Siddhartha Kaushik Goswami
Class: XI B

The spring of the year 2022 – a mild breeze flowed across the city. I sat by the morning sun to write in the month of March. My father told me to join Delhi Public School – 84. I had limited excitement in my mind. What began as a quest to find out more about the school turned into me taking admission for the 2022–23 session in the seventh grade. After the summer vacations, my first day arrived. I woke up, styled my hair and got into my cab. I reached my class and was pleasantly surprised by how tall some of my classmates were. From there, the days rolled by right until the fifth of the second section. A section for students learning Sanskrit was made, and of the seventeen students there, I was one of them. From representing the school in football to competing in quizzes, time flew by. One note that made these seconds and hours nostalgic arrived with time. Soon, it was eighth-grade time. A few mates were gone when I arrived. Our section was kept intact, with a few new kids on the block. I kept playing football, kept competing in quizzes and explored acting and public speaking. I tried to look at most of my school years through my friends, who kept me in check. My year was marked by our annual function, where I played the role of Gandhi Raman in a secondary "Maharaj Ki Jai Ho!" drama, whose lines are engraved in my mind!

The final exams came, and soon it was ninth grade, or the freshman year of high school. The session started chaotically as we went from three sections to two, with some students switching their sections. I was in the same section as my friends, making the transition rather seamless. The year was highlighted by the school trip in December: an unforgettable night stay. Everything from the DJ, the Pink City in all its glory and the all-nighter with my friends, to the headache and sleepiness the next morning, was just immaculate and nostalgic.

The year grew eventful, filled with short plays, drama and a whole lot of inter-house and out-of-that activities. The 2025–26 session began, and it was "boards" year. Tenth grade already felt as if school life was a time bomb. My friends and I made it our goal to relish this year as perhaps our final one together. The numerous sports, the football matches, the school days passing with general inter-school competitions, coupled with a heap of my events, made the year memorable. The school trip, orientation and the resolution of problems marked it further. The final phase was marked by late-night study sessions, all culminating in the CBSE Secondary Exams. And before we knew it, it was eleventh grade. Pressure, academic stress and loads of books were supposed to make my year. However, against the backdrop of preparing for JEE, my hobbies were kept alive, and I even kept up with my pursuit of an acting competition. This eleventh grade has been chaotic and melancholy. Several of my oldest friends left, and the ones that remained were restricted by time and academics. As the year goes on, it continues to feel less like a chore. School in itself feels less like a chore. And even after four years, I want to walk on this road for just a few miles more.

My School Journey – From Admission to Grade 11th

Learning, Growth and Overcoming Challenges

Student Name: Aryaman Goel
Class: XI B

My school journey is very short. DPS-84 will be remembered. It was definitely full of learning and whatnot. The journey started in 2018 when I first shifted to Gurugram. While my family and I were settling, one of our major challenges was to find a good school nearby. After looking at several educational institutions, we stumbled upon this school. Later, it turned out to be the school that was about to be my tool to help me in my educational journey. The school was also fairly new, as it had been built only the previous year. Compared to other schools, DPS-84 was more developed, providing great amenities.

I took admission in third grade after going through an exam-oriented admission process. I was admitted to this precious school. I still remember the first day of third grade to this date: making new friends, meeting new teachers and even finding a best friend. The years passed by. I moved on from class to class while gaining knowledge and also participating in various other extracurricular activities. My friend circle kept increasing as I met more students. I started to hang out with my friends more often, and life was good. The school also developed a lot as it went from a single building to three buildings with more and more amenities. In the end, I would like to say that this school has been an important part of my school journey, acting as a prestigious institution for knowledge and experience. The next year will be my last year in the school, and I am going to miss every part of this journey.

A Poem about My School

DPS - 84

"Bittersweet"

Student Name: Anvi Sharma
Class: XI
Section: B

Oh my school, Bittersweet.
Where the sun shines, nourishing nature's seed,
Where the last bench holds memories more than one can remember,
Welcoming friends and foes, each one of its members.
Here, different people greet.
Is that Bittersweet?

Oh my class, Bittersweet.
We all live like a family,
Staying for each other in happiness, most importantly,
in need.
We laugh, we love, we fight, and are ready to help without thinking twice.
A big family, with the mother and 20 children,
curious to see where they belong, what they seek.
Is that Bittersweet?

As we learn to think, we become one of our own.
We see, we question, we rebel.
Some teachers help; others complain, 'But the rebel!'
Maybe this is why we were taught about rebellions in Grade 9?
Slowly learning to own what's mine,
Yes, that's Bittersweet.

Oh, Bittersweet,
The parting of a family, from the mother, from each other based on their choice.
Now the cuteness turns into a bold voice.
Mutually, we part,
Longing for what we had;
for it, I'll always be glad.
Now, this is Bitters
